CANADIANS SHARE ALLIED ADVANCE

A GERMAN wheels his family and household goods through the streets of shattered Munchen-Gladbach, after the Allies had entered the city. It is a big industrial city and had a population of over 200,000 people.

PIPER BEATON, who now leads a famous Canadian regiment triumphantly into Germany, is a former Detraiter.

CANADIANS PLAYED an important part in the capture of this town of Udem. It has been badly battered but a tank manages to squeeze through.

SUPERIOR FIRE power helps explain Canadian success. Gdsmn. D. Hyde, Ottawa, stacks empty tank shell cases.

AT THE NORTH end of the Rhine line Canadians and British did a lot of street fighting like this in which machine-guns are fired through a garret window. RIGHT, to celebrate being freed from the German yoke this Dutch farmer dons a silk hat as he moves his goods to the Allied rear.

THIS STREET CAR, in Coblenz, Germany, fared worse than the cathedral, though the latter suffered when the U.S. 3rd took over.

CAPTURED at Saarbrücken, this scowling German officer is eating a tin of U.S. army rations but does not seem in the least grateful.

RED CROSS girls celebrated the Rhine's triumphant crossing by dancing to a phonograph's music in spite of mud and heavy boots.

THIS MONSTER gun, a 240-mm., was one of the spoils of war taken by the 7th Army. It was kept in a tunnel and used at night.

THIS INGENUOUS raft, constructed from punts powered by out-board motors, helped troops cross the Moselle and take Coblenz.

AMONGST the many changes in Germany these days is a switch in street signs. Nearly every other town has a Hitler street, too.

MOOSE FACTORY'S FRONTIER PARSON

THIS CHRISTENING scene gives a little idea of the versatility of Rural Dean Gilbert Thompson of St. Thomas' Anglican church at Moose Factory. He preaches in Cree as well as English and knows some Eskimo, too, wears a parka and mukluks as well as vestments and travels by dog team, outboard, plane and horse and cutter, also supervises the Indian school.

THAT'S A FINE sample of a husky he has with him. He himself makes a dramatic picture as in fur hood and snowshoes he comes over a hill while on a parish call.

HIS DEANERY is as large as all England, and here he is in a remote part of it, holding a service in Cree in an Indian house, with a stove as a pulpit. His native parishioners outnumber the white flock by 14 to 1.

BUTTER MAKING is another of this frontier parson's many accomplishments. Here he turns a capacious churn that's full of cream from the mission farm's dozen cows.

HERE'S THE MOOSE river before the break-up. The frontier parson is driving old Bonnie through the river slush from Moose Factory to meet the bi-weekly train from Cochrane to Moosonee which is the end of steel.

ONE OF HIS Eskima parishioners, Mrs. Mina Etoshap, considers it an honor to chew his mukluks or sealskin boots. Chewing is an old Eskima custom to soften leather.

EMERGENCY medical attention is occasionally one of his multifarious activities. Here he gives first aid to an Indian baby awaiting a doctor.

AFTER CHURCH his Indian parishioners return home on snowshoes. One woman has to manipulate a "ticnogan" or popoose board into the bargain.

LIKE PIONEER parsons in old days in southern Ontario, sometimes he goes his rounds on horseback. And he's expert enough to ride bareback.

HE MANAGES the farm that is run in conjunction with the Moose Factory mission and occasionally does some of the milking. He is no amateur as can be seen, for he tackles the cow from the traditionally correct right side.

MOOSE FACTORY'S all-round rural dean, the Rev. Gilbert Thompson, is bilingual, for he holds service in Cree as well as English, and also knows a little Eskimo with a smattering of B.C. dialects. He once travelled on that coast with an Anglican hospital ship. In winter he walks eight miles every Sunday for his services in both Moosonee and Moose Factory. His Cree-speaking parishioners, even at the "white" service, far outnumber the English-speaking audience. His Cree hearers translate to any Eskimos that are present. He prefers travel by boat in summer to dogs or snowshoes in winter. Once he was marooned six weeks until natives patched a large hole ripped in his boat by a jagged reef.

U.S. FAR EAST ACTIVITIES INCLUDE TIGER SHOOTING

A RED CROSS girl and an Illinois corporal went hunting in Burma and got this tiger. Head to tail, he is 12 feet, 250 lbs.

THIS SIGN POST set up at a listening post on Iwo Jima indicates the distance these marines are from their home towns, and also the objective that lies ahead. It is to be hoped they eventually were not included in the more than 4,000 dead the capture of this island cost the U.S. The photo illustrates Iwo Jima's bleak landscape.

Lucky we have a Ford!

AA rations go farther with a Ford V-8 Engine

MERCILESS TESTS on the battle-field were not included in the program when Ford engineers designed the V-8 engine. But five years of war have only proved what a grand engine the Ford V-8 really is.

If you've been slogging a Ford truck through axle-deep mud for mile after mile, you know what a stout heart the V-8 has.

If you've been nursing the family car along on an AA ration book, you know what economy of gas can mean to a V-8 owner.

There is good news for future Ford owners. Constantly through these war years the V-8 engine has been refined and improved. When you get your new Ford, you'll get several years' engineering advancements lumped into one.

ALLIED NAVAL HEROES

TWO SAILORS are plugging a hole in one of the British submarines in the Far East. A Japanese merchantman's 12-pounder gun did the damage. Five shells in all hit the sub but she fought off air attacks and eventually reached port towed by a sister ship.

THIS BEARDED Texan, a coxswain in the coast guard, looks at his two favorite pin-up girls. They're his wife and daughter.

THERE ARE beards in Canada's navy, too. This fine specimen is worn by Ldg. Stoker N. J. Grabas. Calgary is his home port.

WITH ITS PLANES on the flight deck ready to take off, this U.S. plane carrier rests in some Pacific anchorage. With others it raided the Jap fleet in home waters.

The whole truth and nothing but . . .

Arrow Shirts really are the last word in good looks—and there's a reason.

They have those world-famous, can't-be-copied Arrow collars that flatter the male face . . . are tailored to fit trimly—without bulging and bunching. What's more, Arrow Shirts keep their good looks because they're sanforized—guaranteed not to shrink out of fit. In whites, plain shades, and smart patterns.

Guards hands even in hot, soapy water

Yes—your hands can stay on the beauty shift—no matter how busy you are! The secret is Trushay—a new, different kind of lotion. You use Trushay beforehand—before you wash undies or dishes—before hot, soapy water can mar soft hands!

You almost need two pairs of hands these busy war days. Well, Trushay is the next best thing! Used before soap-and-water chores, it helps you to keep a "Sunday pair of hands," every day in the week—guards against roughness and dryness.

For look-prettier evenings, Trushay is marvellous! Use it beforehand to guard the smoothness of your hands. Then try it as a powder base. Or for rough elbows and knees—or all-over body rubs.

Trushay is inexpensive. Because it is so rich and concentrated, a few fragrant drops of Trushay will go a long, long way. Buy a bottle of Trushay—the beforehand lotion—from your drug or department store.

FIGHTING KITES POWERFUL ENOUGH TO TOW CARS

WITH A fighting kite alongside an AA gun a ship has double protection. Bullet holes won't collapse it like captive balloons.

THIS KITE dragged an automobile across this field. It is estimated it can also pull big life rafts at sea.

THE INVENTOR, D. C. Jalbert of Woonsocket, R.I., does not hesitate to trust his own daughter to one of his kites 17 feet wide.

"THERE'S B'ARS in them thar cages"—so this Polar Bear is trying to chew his way to freedom. And who could blame him—because, in the Arctic where he came from, the snows are always clean and white. That goes for Face-Elle tissue handkerchiefs, too—Always snow-white and so much softer!

HERE IS the 11-year-old girl 100 feet in the air on a bo'sun's chair attached to the big kite with small ones tied on, too.

"I have a war job... and a little mother-in-law trouble"

WHEN JOHN went overseas, I wanted to do something to help win the war. So I got an assembly-line job in an aviation plant. Now I realize how important it is for women to work these days.

I COULDN'T be working if John's mother hadn't moved in, to help take care of little Nancy. We all got along pretty well, but I think mother secretly believed I didn't know much about child-raising.

ONE NIGHT when I came home, I found her spanking Nancy... all because she wouldn't take a laxative! "No wonder!" I exclaimed. "Mother, that's a group's laxative and it tastes terrible."

"DOCTORS say it's wrong to force bad-tasting medicine on children," I said. "I give Nancy Castoria—it's pleasant-tasting, made especially for children. It's gentle and effective, never harsh."

WELL, MOTHER apologized later. When she saw Nancy enjoy Castoria, "Guess a war job doesn't keep you from being a smart young mother," she smiled. And we've had no trouble since.

As the medical profession knows, the chief ingredient in Castoria—senna—has an excellent reputation in medical literature. Research has proved that senna works mostly in the lower bowel, so it rarely disturbs the appetite or digestion. In regulated doses, senna produces easy elimination and almost never gripes or irritates.

The SAFE laxative made especially for children

"So I★waved my wand—and there stood a beautiful★princess!★"

How a clever mother learned to work real magic with Singer Sewing Lessons.

"NOT SO LONG AGO, my little Betsy looked more like an orphan child than a princess!

"She'd outgrow everything she owned — before the material had even started to wear. And when I priced children's clothes — whew!

"I was nearly desperate, when I heard about Singer's Lessons in Make-Over and Alterations . . . lucky day for me!

"I took my problems to my Singer Sewing Center*—and those wonderful Singer experts showed me how to fix up all of Betsy's outgrown clothes—from party dresses to coats!

"Do you know—Betsy's clothes look smarter and prettier now than when they were new! Is she proud of them—and am I!"

"I'm Saving Real Money! Singer lessons are so low-priced — only $1.50 for 2 hours of personal instruction — or $10 for a course of 8 lessons. (And when you make things over, it's like getting new ones free!) Now I'm planning to take lessons in Home Dressmaking and Home Decoration, too!"

"I've Learned Tricks with Braid! You'd never guess this little dress was pieced. Isn't the braid pretty?—I found it (surprise!) at Singer's own Notion Counter. Every Singer Sewing Center has a complete one!"

"I'm Dreaming of a New Singer Sewing Machine! I discovered some new ones are still available. Of course, you have to wait your turn. (And Singer Centers are the only places to buy reconditioned Singers in good running order. Also machines can be rented by the month for home use or by the hour at Singer Centers.)"

NEW MARVELS OF SCIENCE

BOMBS for Tokyo were tested at a Staten Island chemical warfare plant. They're composed of jellied gasoline with time fuses. Fired by the men on the platform, they flame on brick walls and are deadly against Jap paper houses. RIGHT, a soldier demonstrates a 60-pound pack that is so buoyant that he can fire a rifle as he floats in water.

THIS anti-exposure suit for aviators who are forced down in icy water traps enough air to float the wearer. Its warmth protects from the shock of sudden, chilly immersion.

WINGS OF TOMORROW

Tokio in 40 hours ... Fantastic? Not when the enormous advances made during the war are applied to civilian flying. Soon trips to anywhere in the world will be undertaken as lightheartedly as we now plan a weekend at the lake. This is largely due to the new "alloys," metals with the lightness of aluminum and the strength of steel. Just as the use of alloys improves metals, B-A Peerless, sensational new motor oil is "alloyed" to inhibit oxidation ... help keep repair costs down ... keep engines cleaner ... keep cars running longer.

Summer's coming! Yes, but are you ready? ... Your car for instance, is it in shape for summer driving? If not drive in tomorrow to the nearest B-A dealer, have him drain the old, contaminated winter grade oil from the crankcase and refill with pure sparkling Peerless, the oil that's "alloyed" to cut repair costs, keep motors cleaner.

It does matter here what oil you use! It matters more every day that oil is subject to the heat and pressure generated in the engine of your car! So switch NOW to Peerless Motor Oil "It's Alloyed" The British American Oil Company Limited.

You'd be surprised if you could see what goes on inside these giant vessels and towers. How specially selected lubricating crude oils, under B-A's direct control all the way from the oil fields to the most modern of refineries, are distilled and refined and filtered ... how the pure sparkling oil that results is finally "alloyed" to keep it on the job ... you'd be surprised, but you'd know that Peerless Motor Oil is the oil for your car!

EVERY THURSDAY THRILL TO THE ADVENTURES OF JACK MARLOW ON "FIGHTING NAVY," TRANS-CANADA NETWORK

Who puts the "buzz" in Canada's Mosquitoes?

The sensational Canadian-built de Havilland Mosquito has written a glowing page in the history of Allied air power.

Nazi pursuit pilots who've felt the lethal sting of its bristling armament call the Mosquito a fighter. And what a fighter it is!

But German industrial cities that have felt the earth-shaking er-u-m-p of its belly load call it a bomber. And what a bomber it is!

Here at Packard, we have built over 60,000 combat engines, many of them destined to go into this versatile combat plane.

We're proud of being able to give the Canadian Mosquito its buzz. Proud, too, that we've turned out thousands of Packard-built Rolls-Royce engines for Canadian Lancasters, British Hurricanes, and American Mustang and Warhawk fighters.

And here's another Mosquito—one of the lightning-fast MTBs of Canada's famed "mosquito fleet."

Armed with torpedoes, depth bombs, and anti-aircraft guns—manned by brave, resolute men—these merciless sluggers have chalked up heroic exploits in Canadian naval annals.

The heart of the mile-a-minute MTB is its bank of three giant Packard marine engines—a precision-built brute of an aircraft-type engine, developed from the famous Packard racing engine that used to streak home to victory year after year.

That's the buzz that lets the MTB give the Axis the business! And this same Packard engine also powers the swift crash boats that are serving the R.C.A.F. so admirably.

The last new cars rolled off assembly lines in February, 1942—over three years ago.

It may be longer than you think before you can buy any new car.

That's why you should drive your present car carefully—and see your dealer regularly. Give him the chance to catch little troubles before they grow up into big ones. Protective service will conserve your car—and save your gas, tires, and money, too!

GOODYEAR SYNTHETICS PASS THEIR MEDICAL!*

Lives often depend on a doctor's tires. An emergency call . . . and minutes may mean a life. From experience, doctors have learned the worth of Goodyear synthetics.

Superiority of Goodyear synthetic tires is no mystery-bolstered claim. It is a demonstrated fact. Now, as always, all Canadian tire manufacturers use the same raw materials. Now, as always, it's the skill, based on years of experience in compounding and fabricating these raw materials that makes Goodyears better.

No other tires can match Goodyears, with their extra strength low-stretch Supertwist cord . . . beads reinforced with high carbon steel and their famous diamond All-Weather tread which compresses, under inflation, and provides greater resistance to wear and cutting. These are some of the reasons for the extra Goodyear service that drivers discover through actual use. They are some of the reasons behind the fact that, now as for 30 years, "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires Than on Any Other Kind".

AN EXTRACT FROM ONE OF MANY LETTERS RECEIVED FROM CANADIAN MEDICAL DOCTORS:

"...I have been using Goodyear Synthetic Tires about two years and find them giving good service and standing up well. . . . I am quite satisfied with mileage and durability."

And it saves you needless dismay on "certain days" to be sure of extra protection—with Kotex—the napkin with the 4-ply safety center that keeps moisture away from the edges, assuring safety plus.

For fearless tweezing, should you—

- ☐ Soften brows with hot water
- ☐ Spread skin taut
- ☐ Use quick, firm pull

When wedding out wayward eyebrows weep no more, my lady. Just follow the routine given above. (All three answers are correct.) By the way, did you know that Kotex offers three answers to napkin needs? Yes, only Kotex comes in three sizes—for different women, different days. There's Regular Kotex in the blue box, Junior Kotex in the green box, Super Kotex in the brown box. For made-to-order protection, find the size that's right for you.

How do you get out of a car?

- ☐ Step down gracefully
- ☐ Wriggle out like Grandma
- ☐ Jump out like Junior

Let this sad tale be a caution to you! Step down gracefully, keeping knees as close together as possible. True grace depends on good posture. On comfort, too, at "those" times... the dependable comfort of Kotex, so different from pads that just "feel" soft at first touch! That's because Kotex stays soft while wearing... doesn't wad up, doesn't get lumpy like some napkins. Kotex keeps firm... its softness stays with you.

QUEST... PERFECT FOR THE PURPOSE! Smart girls choose Quest... the Kotex deodorant powder. They know that a POWDER deodorant is best for sanitary pads, because it has no moisture resistant base... doesn't retard absorption. And Quest was especially created just for this purpose. It's soft... soothing... safe... and it destroys odours completely. You can be SURE with Quest. Many months' supply... only 35c.

More women choose KOTEX[®] than all other napkins put together

IT'S AN OUTDOOR LIFE FOR WOMEN OF MOOSONEE

FISHING THROUGH the ice of the great Moose river is a favorite sport that rarely fails to bring good results. There are plenty of more fine trout where that come from. As elsewhere, headgear tastes vary.

THAT'S a real hunting cap Mrs. Ruth Kneeshaw wears. She comes from Bradford, Ont., and her husband is overseas.

THE 30 white women in Ontario's Moosonee and its sister village, Moose Factory, declare that they get a real thrill out of life in the north, in the winter perhaps even more so than in summer. There is always a demand for firewood and, LEFT, Mrs. Jim Peace really enjoys handling a buckskin. She gives her little niece, Carolynne, a lesson. These settlements are a paradise for girls fond of fishing and hunting. The two gun women, RIGHT, are after giant snowshoe rabbits. That is a Yukon type of sled they are using. They have tied up their huskies and use the spaniel to retrieve the game. Sleigh dogs, of course, would gobble it themselves. The fair Nimrods if they cared to go to the north of James Bay might encounter Nanook of the North, the polar bear. They've plenty of strictly feminine amusements, too, such as Red Cross activities, quilting bees, sewing circles, where they make parkies. They're outnumbered by the Indians and Eskimos.

MOOSENEE enjoyed an early spring like the rest of Ontario, but that does not mean that the capacious stoves were thrown on the scrap. All in all, a stove is a desirable fixture in any house in that part of the country. Mooseenee has plenty of boosters but none of them claims it's in the banana belt. A stove makes a welcome fourth at the three-handed bridge games which are very popular with local ladies, now that the feminine population, because of the war almost is double the male. Here the hostess, Mrs. Jim Peace, in her sitting-room stokes the fire without stopping play. Wood's the main fuel and there's lots of it.

AT YOUR DRUGGISTS

"Nice can - and lucky me!"

You should have seen me a minute ago struggling with an armful of groceries.

It was a great fight, Mom, but I lost. Something dropped out of the bag.

"Now you've done it!" I told myself. Then I saw that what had fallen was a can.

"Good old can," I thought. "Nice can! Thank goodness there's no mess to wipe up—no precious food wasted."

First in War—First in Peace

Because cans don't break, they're serving on every battle front. Only in these containers can our fighting forces be sure of getting food and other supplies in good condition.

After Victory, many of your favourite products will again appear in steel-and-tin cans. And you'll find new products, too, in these ideal containers.

Canned foods have these other advantages . . .

- 1- Nutritive values: Vitamin and minerals are retained in canned foods to a greater degree than in fresh foods cooked in the average home.
- 2- Convenience: In any season you can serve canned foods on a moment's notice. And they're so easy to carry and store!
- 3- Protection: No light can enter cans to cause discoloration and deterioration of food. Cans are also moisture-and-air-tight.
- 4- Economy: Because cans are cheap, you pay for little more than the food they contain. Being ready-cooked, they save fuel.

Canada's supply of canned foods is still limited by war conditions. Buy only what you need. Waste none. Don't forget to buy War Savings Stamps regularly.

REGULATION of traffic and all details of German life was one of the first tasks of the Allies in the towns they have occupied. Motorists who might ignore his uplifted hand are sure to notice the curves of the store window girl, a real blonde.
